

UVC40-BYOD Meeting Kit for Small and Huddle Rooms

Yealink UVC40-BYOD meeting kit is dedicated for your small and huddle rooms that ensure the excellent video and audio experience with lower cost. Maximally optimizing the user experience via one cable, this meeting kit is not only plug-and-play, but also makes you feel free to have all kinds of UC meetings, including Teams, Skype for Business, Zoom, etc. Meanwhile, capable of charging laptop via Type-C cable entirely assures the endurance of your laptop.

Key Features and Benefits

All-in-One Design, Plug and Play

Integrate audio, video and HDMI output together into one Type-C cable. Whoever walks into the room, simply connects one cable to your laptop and no extra driver installation is required.

Full-Duplex Experience

Together with technology of processing on acoustic echo cancellation and the dereverberation, UVC40 brings high quality full-duplex call and pick up more accurate voice.

Long Endurance

Capable of charging laptop via Type-C cable, users can take a long meeting even without their own power adapters.

Cost-effective

Reasonable price for audio and video conference and collaboration, especially suitable for the enterprise with lots of huddle rooms.

Simple Deployment

Simplify your deployment that you only need to connect video and audio devices to BYOD box, dramatically reducing your deployment time.
